

Education Matters - Success, Success, Success!!!

Every living thing has a built-in guidance system or goal striving device to help it survive and live. The “success mechanism” in man is to help him obtain answers to problems, invent, write essays, explore new horizons, etc.

Learning and success at School is a sequential process of skills, knowledge and above all, “self-image”. We have found with many of our diagnostic tests, gaps appear in the accepted criteria for that subject. Often, in a critical learning period, there has been sickness, family upheaval, incidents at home and School that break the sequence of learning.

At Tuition Time, we try to plug those “gaps”, and inspire the student to move boldly to the next step of the sequence and being rewarded for doing so. This can be achieved in either small groups or one-on-one.

This “built-in” success mechanism must then have a target or goal that is achievable and conceived in the person’s mind. Throughout my teaching career and at Tuition Time, I have seen this success mechanism work time and time again.

Our students are instructed not to “jam” the mechanism by being too anxious. Just let it work rather than “make” it work.
